Art Unit: 1612

Claims 1-6 are presented for examination.

The amendments and remarks filed on February 12, 2010 have been received and entered.

Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hastings et al. (US 5,626,849) for the reasons set forth on page 2 of the office action of August 13, 2009.

Claims 4-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102 (e) as being anticipated by Clourate et al. (US 6,447,807) for the reasons set forth on page 3 of the office action of August 13, 2009.

Applicant's arguments and remarks have been carefully considered, but are not deemed to be persuasive. Applicant alleges criticality to the therapeutic concentrations of the claimed invention, and concentration dependent treatment of inflammation. It is the examiner's position that the claims of the instant application are not drawn to any specific concentrations. Furthermore, the concentrations taught in the instant specification are about the concentrations taught by the prior art. Therefore, in the absence of any advantages of the claimed composition over the prior art of record, it is expected that the prior art composition would also be able to effect the treatment of inflammation. Applicant in his arguments also refers to the treatment of "chronic inflammation" using the composition of the claimed invention. As it was previously discussed, inflammation is a generic term and it is not directed to any specific disease or disorder. The body is always dealing with some silent inflammatory process as it was evidenced by an article submitted previously. Therefore, the use of the claimed compounds in the body for any purpose is expected to treat certain inflammatory process.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
